Group OKs 3 Candidates

By Lucie Lubisich

Citizens Supporting Good Citizenship yesterday announced the names of three candidates to receive their support in the June 7 Pasadena School Board election. They are Walter T. Shatford II, an attorney; Mrs. Donald LaMotte, housewife, and Steve Salisian, tire dealer.

Announcement of the chosen candidates came from CSGE chairman, Dr. Walter C. Rogers, who said the citizens group found these three "best qualified."

Others in the running for the three open positions on the Board are Malcolm F. Meguiar, Don A. Winton, Miss Mable Fossler, Desmond L. Anderson and Mrs. Isabel Pierce.

THE PUBLIC has been invited to hear all candidates at two meetings next week being sponsored jointly by the PTA and the League of Women Voters. The first will be at 8 p.m. Monday at Marshall Junior High School and the second at 8 p.m. Thursday at Wilson Junior High School.

The Citizens Supporting Good Education say they will sponsor a series of public meetings also, and in addition, many neighborhood "coffees" are being scheduled to acquaint as many voters as possible with the CSGE candidates, the School Board and its functions.

In announcing the CSGE candidates, Dr. Rogers made this statement:

"Many weeks ago we asked 13 thoughtful men and women from many different segments of our community to serve as an interviewing committee in the hope they would be able to determine the three best possible candidates.

"That committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. William E. Hansen, has examined the possibilities of the candidates of 36 citizens and has interviewed 13. The careful opinion of the interviewing committee is that Mrs. LaMotte, Mr. Salisian and Mr. Shatford are best qualified to serve on the School Board. That opinion has been weighed and approved by the membership of CSGE.

"The election of the three will, we hope, insure Pasadena's getting the new high school we so desperately need and will return the Board of Education to its 'policy making' function.

"We deserve and want a better than average school system, and one way to achieve this is to relieve the school administration and the teachers from the continued harassment to which they have been subjected in recent years."

MEMBERS OF the interviewing committee were Vernon Brydolf, Mrs. Nicholas Cirino, John Moore, Joseph Johnson, Mrs. John Fulton, the Rev. Herman Gehr, Harry Tyler, Mrs. Carl Hoelschler, James Stivers, Lee Sanders, Rabbi L. T. Galpert and Edward Singer.

Walter Young, William Nicholas and Lawrence Lamb, whose terms on the School Board expire, have announced they will not seek reelection. Remaining members of the Board are Robert Mardian and Edgar Barratt.

Eligible to vote for School Board members on June 7 will be residents of Pasadena, Altadena, La Canada, Sierra Madre, parts of San Gabriel and of Temple City.

Last Rites For Richard Jensen In Long Beach

Word has been received locally of the recent death of Richard S. Jensen, former Sierra Madrean.

Mr. Jensen had been a member of the School Board during his long residence here, and an officer of Bethany Church.

Funeral services were held May 3 in Long Beach. He is survived by Dr. Merrill Jensen, assistant to the president of Redlands University; John N. Jensen and Robert Jensen, both of Northern California. He also leaves seven grandchildren.

Charge Seely on Assault Attempt

A. G. Seely, 22, of 390 Sycamore, is free on $1,000 bond after a complaint of assault was filed against him in Superior Court by Irma Butler, 1559 Hill, Pasadena.

According to police, Miss Butler charged the assault attempt took place Friday night at the Sycamore address. Seely, a draftsman, was freed on a writ of habeas corpus.

CHILDREN IN Mrs. Matilda Laughlin's third grade at Sierra Mesa weren't trying to fool the teacher or play hookey when they put these dummies in their regular seats. The figures were made for opn house during Public Schools Week. They used paper, pencil, crayons and a large mirror for the project. Figures were made live size on strong butcher paper.

School Post Hopefuls Tell Education Views

Answer Queries on Religion, UNESCO

A full house Tuesday night heard Sierra Madre's four candidates for the one vacancy on the Board of Education explain why they were running, what they would like to accomplish and answer questions on a variety of subjects, from religion in the schools to UNESCO.

The public meeting was sponsored by the Sierra Madre Coordinating Council, under the presidency of James McCoy.

The first speaker, Claude H. Brown Jr., said he could not make too many campaign promises, but that there were several areas in which improvement could be made.

HE NAMED them as the need for better public relations between the school and the community, for raising the educational standards to keep in step with our increasingly complicated society, the need for more classrooms and the importance of paying teachers adequate salaries.

Kenneth Cleaver, the second candidate to speak, reiterated much that Mr. Brown had said. He added that he has heard complaints from parents that their children had not been adequately prepared in Sierra Madre. Consequently their grades suffered when they advanced to Pasadena schools.

"We must teach children to learn how to learn," he said. "We must raise our educational standards."

He also suggested that perhaps teachers should be paid under a merit rating system. Those that rated higher would get higher pay, within the limit of the established pay scale.

THE THIRD candidate, Hugh Colvin, outlined the six areas, as prescribed by the State of California, under which school boards operate.

He listed them as personnel administration, curriculum, finance, school population, community relations, and pupil policy functions, which includes steps to guard the health, welfare and safety of the students.

The two basic activities of a school board, he said, involve policy making and the evaluation of how policy is being carried out by school administrators.

"In our complex civilization," he said, "we need better educated, better trained students.

"A school should always look up, should always attempt to improve and to raise its standards. We operate at a low rate of efficiency compared with what we are capable of doing.

"I believe you can inspire students to learn how to learn, and to teach them the fundamentals upon which to build a solid background."

G. NORMAN KENNEDY, the fourth candidate, said there is too much emphasis on the "mumbo-jumbo of methodology" and not enough on requiring teachers to know their subjects.

"There also is too much emphasis," he added, "on requiring schools to be baby sitters and disciplinarians, when these are jobs the parents should assume."

During the questioning period, all candidates agreed it would be better to run our schools on a local basis rather than accept federal aid and thus possibly be subject to federal control.

On the religion in the public schools issue, all likewise agreed that School Board members are obligated to abide by the law of the land, although there appeared to be some disagreement over whether a Nativity play is primarily cultural or religious.

On the question of whether UNESCO should be mentioned in classrooms, candidates also appeared in agreement.

THE UNITED NATIONS, according to the tenor of their statements, is a fact, just as UNESCO is a fact, and the schools should never be afraid of facts, so long as they distinguish between fact and propaganda.

All, however, expressed some doubt as to the practicability of teaching subjects involving the United Nations to children in the first six grades.

Mr. Colvin, in reply to a question concerning the amount of time he could spend working on School Board problems, said:

"A School Board member has an important and responsible job. I would not be running for the Board if I thought I could not take enough time to attend to the job."

Skutt Is New Head Of Northern School

School Superintendent Charles A. Skutt announced today that he will leave Sierra Madre the end of June with a contract to become principal of the 20-classroom Terra Linda School in Marin County, northern California.

His school is in a new rapidly-growing district, Supt. Skutt said, with plans for a second school to be completed in 1958. The Skutts will live in Terra Linda and Mrs. Skutt plans to resume her teaching career.

Mr. Skutt has been superintendent of the Sierra Madre schools for 11 years. He pointed out that his new position will allow a "10-month schedule" on the job, with time left for study, travel and family activities.

THE SKUTTS, with their children, Roger, 15, and Linda, 13, will leave Sierra Madre the end of June for a two-month tour of the United States.

Over 200 friends gathered at the school Monday evening to honor Mr. Skutt.

Hosts for the event were members of the PTA Executive Board, who lauded the administrator for his service to the community. Guests included present and former school personnel and PTA board members who have worked with the school during the years of Mr. Skutt's superintendency.

Mrs. Charles Fretz, PTA board president, presented the superintendent with a watch inscribed from the PTA.

ENTERTAINMENT included a take-off on "This Is Your Life," in which accomplishments during Mr. Skutt's tenure were reviewed.

School enrollment, it was pointed out, has almost doubled, but during the period of growth no double sessions were necessitated.

A six-room annex was constructed, followed by acquisition of a second school site, with eight classrooms, and administrative unit. A tax over-ride for a 10-year period was also approved by the voters. A long range program of repairs has also been started.

THE PROCEEDINGS were taped and photographed for presentation to the Skutts, and refreshments were served by PTA fathers.

Mrs. Mrytis Waite was chairman of the committee, assisted by Mrs. Kathleen McDonald, mistress of ceremonies; Miss Betty Newton, Mrs. Louise Barbour, Mrs. Abbey Pascoe, Mrs. Betty Crook, Mrs. Lydia Clardy, Mrs. Yerda Adams, Mrs. Martha Coutant, Mrs. Florence Nielsen and Mrs. Fretz.

Music accompaniment was provided by Mrs. Matilda Smith, former music teacher.

Check-Passer in Court, Pleads Guilty on Charge

George Saal, 26, known also as Bruce Chrysler, formerly of 741 Brookside Lane, pled guilty Friday in Pasadena Municipal Court on charges of passing bad checks in Sierra Madre business places.

Hearing on probation and sentencing will be held May 24, Saal is free on $200 bail.

Police report that the former resident was arrested at his Los Angeles address, charged with passing checks, not backed by funds, at Simpson's Cleaners, Roess Market and the Sierra Madre Water Department. Checks were dated Oct. 17 and 2[illegible], and Nov. 20, 1956.

City Sues Two Local Attorneys

The City of Sierra Madre has filed suit in Pasadena Municipal Court against two local attorneys who have refused to pay their business license tax on grounds the tax is discriminatory and possibly unconstitutional.

The complaint was filed against John Fitzgerald and Noren Eaton, both of whom have practiced in Sierra Madre for many years.

Mr. Fitzgerald, in an answer to the complaint, asked that it be dismissed and that the city pay the costs.

He argued that the city ordinance requiring an annual license tax is invalid and unconstitutional in that it attempts to regulate and control in a field "already occupied completely by the state."

He stated further that the ordinance does not set forth with clarity a norm or standard by which lawyers might know their rights and obligations and that, in addition, it makes no attempt to tax a business on its volume but instead taxes everybody on the same amount.

One of Mr. Fitzgerald's main points is that the city does not tax attorneys in Sierra Madre who practice in their homes. The answer to the complaint states:

"It is within the knowledge of the City Council that there are attorneys practicing from their homes in the City of Sierra Madre, but no attempt has been made to tax said attorneys."

The City Council voted several months ago to file suit against the two attorneys to force them to pay their business license tax of $24 a year.

Mr. Eaton has not yet filed an answer to the complaint.

Stewart Works Show Force and Design

By Howard Whalen
Former Chairman
Friends of the Library

Sierra Madre's first full scale exhibition of sculpture, the work of Albert Stewart, formally opened Sunday afternoon in the Library Gallery.

Thanks to the patience and generosity of Mr. Stewart and his wife, the cooperation of the Pasadena Art Museum and Osti's Nursery and the "Friend's" Exhibits Committee, this show blossoms as one of the most impressive that we Sierra Madreans have had.

Albert Stewart is probably one of the most capable sculptors in this country—a sculptor who, because of the dimension of his work, must also be part engineer and part architect.

HE IS a master craftsman who is not only able to visualize and design works of architectural stature but is also quite capable of engineering and constructing these creations.

Five of these large pieces are on display in our gallery this month, as well as 24 photos of Mr. Stewart's sculpture, covering a wide raneg of subjects in wood, stone and clay.

The impact of these huge figures in full dimension, after so many months of paintings "flat-against-the-wall," is pleasantly arresting. A bit like rediscovering the third dimension.

Underlying these more obvious elements is Mr. Stewart's great ability to design, his sense of proportion and "distortion" which makes all of his sculpture look "right" no matter how large or how small.

HIS SENSITIVITY to subject, materials and tools are also elements which help create this "rightness" we feel in his work.

Mr. Stewart does very little "experimental" or "gallery" art. He enjoys most doing what might be termed "applied" sculpture — sculpture which has, as its limitations, the architecture which will house it and a client who must like it.

The exhibit runs through June 2.

Colvin Better for Board

One good result of the controversy over religion in the public schools (the only good one, so far as I can see) is that it prompted four seemingly well-qualified candidates to file for the one School Board vacancy.

One of the two lawyers who has filed, G. Norman Kennedy, has had previous experience, both in California and in Illinois, in government work. He appears forthright, judging by his stand taken publicly on religion in the schools, and could be expected to stick to his guns in a crisis.

The other, Kenneth Cleaaver, is perhaps not so well known as Mr. Kennedy, but recently he has taken a keen interest in the schools.

From a practical viewpoint, though, it seems to me that neither Mr. Kennedy nor Mr. Cleaver has much of a chance of getting elected.

Both are newcomers to Sierra Madre and, while that should not disqualify them, the simple fact that they are relatively unknown and have made little effort to become better acquainted with the voters will work to their disadvantage.

Also, both are lawyers, another disadvantage which at this time is not likely to win them too many votes.

Through some dubious reasoning process, it appears that many Sierra Madreans are suspicious of attorneys on the School Board.

This antipathy probably arose during the religious controversy when a great many individuals decided they would have no truck with legal intepretations of the Constitution or of the part religion should play in the public schools.

The election, it seems to me, will boil down to a contest between Hugh Colvin and Claude Brown, both business men and both presidents of their companies. Both are well known here and respected for their accomplishments.

Mr. Brown, as previously reported in The Sierra Madre News, has been active here in civic and school affairs for many years. He and his wife, Elena, are past presidents of the PTA and have worked vigorously to advance Sierra Madre schools.

Mr. Colvin belongs to a host of organizations, including the local Library Board, and as president of Consolidated Electrodynamics Corp. is one of the youngest men in a comparable position in the United States.

Mr. Colvin also must have a talent for organization and he is known as an expert in financial matters.

For these reasons I think Mr. Colvin is better qualified at this time to be a member of the Board of Education.

The most serious problem now facing Sierra Madre is our overcrowded schools, our expanding school population and the need for new classrooms. To build new classsrooms, the School Board must raise money.

Mr. Colvin's aid to solving these problems could be invaluable. Not only would his financial and organizational ability prove of immense help, but he also could be expected to influence the business community as perhaps could few other men in Sierra Madre.

And the support of businessmen is vital if the School Board expects to convince the voters of the need for a large bond issue.

The only serious objection to Mr. Colvin as a School Board member is that he is so busy he may have little time to attend to school affairs. The same objection could also be made, although to a lesser degree, to Mr. Brown.

Perhaps one can assume, though, that both men are aware of the responsibilities a member of the School Board must accept and, consequently, they will find time to attend most Board meetings.

Although I feel Mr. Colvin is the most qualified candidate, Sierra Madre should gain regardless of which one is elected. —H.W.E.

SOMETIME, like right now, why not drive out to the Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Garden at Claremont? Now is the brief, brilliant blooming time for the wild lilacs, golden fremontia and fields of poppies, both white and yellow.

The garden, study buildings and library are dedicated to producing and improving California native plants and shrubs.

If memory serves, the establishment, which originally was in Santa Ana Canyon, was endowed by Susanna Bixby, herself a California native. It was moved a few years ago to its present site just to the north of Highway 66 in Claremont. No admission charge.

Presumably, and who's to doubt it, every native plant is represented. If you get down and keep your nose to the ground you can even identify the tiny desert growth that staunchly puts up a bloom in response to a drop of water.

This nature business is remarkable. Been going on for some time now.

Appraises Progress Made By Congress in 16 Weeks

By Edgar W. Hiestand, Rep. 21st District

OCCASIONALLY people ask me why they should be interested in politics. After all, they say, the average person has no decision over how his laws are written, how his tax dollars are spent,, or how affairs are settled among nations.

In a sense this is true. There is neither time nor facilities for consulting every voter each time a major or minor government issue must be decided. Citizens must rely upon the men they elect to make these decisiions for them.

But in a greater sense the statement that the average citizen has no noice in governmment is far from true. Or, put another way, persons who want to express themselves, and take time to do so, can have a most telling effect upon the decisions made daily in government.

Instances are common of elections won or lost by just one vote, and of bills passed or defeated by just one vote. Several weeks ago the overnight switch of just a few votes resulted in the passage of a $50 million expenditure which had been beaten just 24 houre earlier. It passed because certain people, using proven tactics, put the pressure on certain places at the appropriate time, while persons opposed to high spending remained temporarily silent.

THE FACT is that our country is developing increasingly as a nation or "special interests," and that unless a grassroots movement continues to battle against high expenditures, our federal costs will dwarf even the present staggering figures.

The Washington classified telephone directory lists 15 full columns of "associations," almost every one of which has a particular axe to grind in protecting, advancing, promoting or preserving some special project, law or appropriation.

Many of these associatiions fine work for worthy causes or worthy people. Many of them work independently of Congress or the Administratiion. Others employ paid lobbyists who try to influence legislation directly.

Some operate with "watch dog" employees, or even with volunteers, who call from time to time at congressional offices to "create a favorable climate" toward their group. Cocktail parties are a common but obvious technique for "building good will." Newspapers, magazines, newsletters and other publications pour daily into congressional offices to "present a point of view" favorable to this group or that.

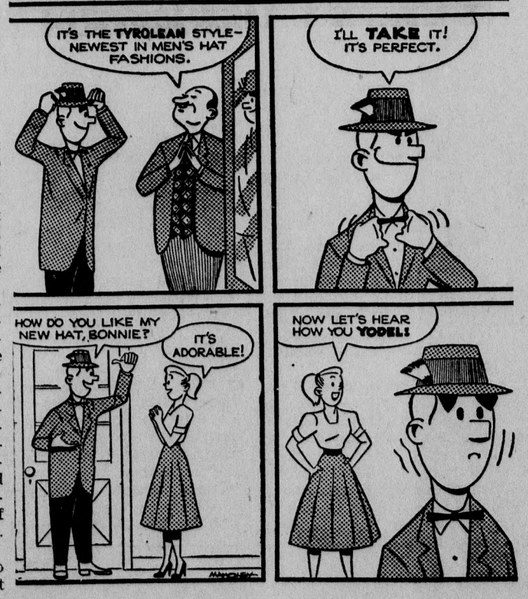

"Special interests" include groups serving management and labor, educationists and veterans, farmers and urban development groups, cooperatives and conservationists. The list is virtually endless. The interests extend into government itself. Thousands upon thousands of promoters within governernment agencies keep close tabs on Congress to assure agencies are maintained at present levels or increased.

YOU MAY BE PART of some local organization supporting a national committee which protects your interests and assures that Congress passes no legislation contrary to your point of view.

Basically there is nothing wrong with having a committee or association representing your interests in Washington. But collectively, the special interests of milliions of people are costing you hundreds of milliions of dollars annually.

THE BAFFLES By Mahoney

Lee Shippey asks What Do You Think?

Once more the California Legislature—which still includes members who were there when Lobbyist Samish boasted he had our Legislature in his pocket—has made such a farce of a Purity of Elections bill that its author has withdrawn it. It would have required political candidates to report the source of every contribution of $50 or more. That might have caused persons with ulterior motives to hesitate to put candidates under financial obligations.

No one dared openly oppose purity, so tricky legislators, who pretended to approve the bill loaded it up with amendments so unreasonable they left no effestiveness in it. One, for example, would have made it unlawful for anyone not living in the district to give any aid to a candidate in that district, even if the candidate was a relative. You can kill a law by merely making it unconstitutional.

The shamefu l thing is that this has been going on for years and none of our "true and tried" legislators has been smart enough or forceful enough to expose it. The obvious reason is thata enough legislators to stall any remedial legislation receive campaign contributiions which put them under financial obligations they do not wish made public. We have seen lately that those who received help from the Teamsters Union are quick to assert that they never knew it and when they got pally with Beck or Brewster it was only because of their ignorance.

The simple fact is that as long as it costs from two to ten times the salary a political job pays to elect a man to it, we are bound to have many candidates for legislative offices who are, in effect, bought and paid for by those who put up the money or donate billboards or mailings or other costly hidden help.

We cannot help electing numerous men so bought until we put a reasonable limit on what may be spent in any campaign, and that limit should be low enough to permit a man of moderate means to run without selling out. I would like a law requiring every piece of campaign literature, from card to billboard, to be labeled "Paid for by so and so," making it a jail offense for anyone to circulate anonymous attacks or spend more, directly or indirectly, than the legal limit in behalf of a candidate.

LAST WEEK a meeting of medics in Los Angeles cheered a doctor who declared it was shocking for persons who can afford to have babies in private hospitals to have them in county or city hospitals, practically taking the bread out of the mouths of the poor, starving doctors. He charged that nearly one-third of the births in California last year were in public hospitals and added that any family with an income of $3,000 a year should be able to afford $400 for a birth in a private hospital.

I'll bet that doctor has forgotten, if he ever knew, how hard it is to live on $3,000 a year. A lot of doctors have forgotten. Thirty years ago I was told a California law forbade the charging of more than $50 for delivering a baby, so the doctors arranged for check-ups before and after births so they could charge more. That was fair enough — a benefit all around. But the specialist —the best in San Diego — who brought four of our children into the world — charged only $100—and half a hospital room was only $6 a day.

The reason why many persons go to taxpayer-supported hospitals is that, besides being taxpayers, they can't afford private hospitals and doctors. When even the President and congressmen go straight to Bethesda Naval or Walter Reed hospital when they get sick, you can't blame a $3,000-a-year man for also going to a tax-supported hospital if he can.

Around and About . . .

Oh, For the Sicilian Life! Siestas Four Hours Long

In Italy, urban work is spread over a long day with a long break or "siesta." In Palermo, the shops, business offices and public buildings are closed f rom 1 p.m. to 4 a.m. daily, the year around, instead of from 12 noon to 3 as in Naples and cities forther north.

These are the hours traditionally known as "la siesta)) (the Spanish term) or "la riposa" the alternate Italian term). It is not necessarily all sleep. Many home chores and "do-it-yourself" jobs are done in that period, for when business is resumed at 4 or 3 it continues until 7 or 8, or even nine at night. Thus public meetings, stage plans, and the opera do not begin until 9 at the earliest and continue until after midnight.

Between 7 and 10 are the opening hours in the morning, ranging from the artisans of the trades to the "white collar" classes. Most of Italy's working population does its morning's work on one small cup or very strong black coffee — "caffee espresso"; a minority does it on "caffe latte," which is two-thirds hot hilk, or else a cappuccino"—coffee with just a dash of milk, which produces the brown color of a Franciscan monk's cowl, or "cappuccio," of which "cappuccino" is the diminutive.

These drinks cost, with tips, from 8 cents to 15 cents, according to the class of the shop (government tax is involved here) and whether one takes his coffee straight or with milk. Coffee in Italy has its own special taste—a bitter, biting tang, caused by the popular taste for over-much roasting, plus possibly some added chicory root.

COFFEE shops do a huge business serving this "breakfast" to persons on their way to work, of whom apparently not 5 per cent take any solid food before afternoon—which some foreigners say accounts for the general gloom and pessimism of Italian business men during the morning hours. The employed women, however, seem to do much better on the same liquid fare. This tends to even the scale.

For lunch and dinner the Italians more than make up for their long fast and the resulting amount of calorie-and-vitamin-rich diet, with their very substantial bread, is sometimes given credit in part, and perhaps with same reason, for their history and current problem or over-population.

Our popular idea that Italian cookery consists entirely of spaghetti or other pasta is, of course, like most generalizations quite erroneous. There is a great variety of dishes available in restaurants. They digest best with wine.

But even though this Ford handles like an expensive car, it's still priced Ford-low. In fact, model for model right across the board, the 1957 Ford is the lowest priced of the low-price three!

Ford is worth more at trade-in time

And when you go to trade your Ford, you'll find Ford's traditionally high resale value makes it worth more at that time, too.

Why not come in and Action Test this fun-lovin', budget-lovin' Ford? Why not come in and see it today?

Mrs. Shippey's Fish Recipe Stirs Most Lethargic Cook

By Toni Maurin

If you have ever drawn a blank when it comes to preparing fish, as I so often have, this recipe, shared by Mrs. Lee Shippey, of 299 Toyon Road, ought to create a great deal of interest to even the most lethargic cooks.

FISH NORMANDE

Place a thick piece of sea bass (about 2 pounds) in a deep glass baking dish. Pour over fish ½ cup of Sauterne wine and ½ cup of thick cream. Place about five slices of onions on top of fish.

Sprinkle one cup of fine bread crumbs on and around fish. Add salt and pepper to taste. Bake at 300°F. for one hour.

If sauce is too thick when removed from oven add a little more cream.

Saute one basket of cleaned mushrooms in butter and add to fish hot just before serving.

MRS. SHIPPEY was born in Normandy and moved to Paris where she was brought up when she was 3 years old. She was educated in France and attended finishing school in Holland, which was on the border of Germany, Holland and Belgium and was bombed by everyone during the war.

During World War I she served as an interpreter for the French Government and it was during this time that she met Lee Shippey. They were married in Europe and in 1919 they came back to this country and then to Mexico where they lived for 2½ years before moving to Del Mar, Calif.

From Del Mar they moved to Sierra Madre and have been living here for the past 30 years.

Mrs. Shippey has been active in the Episcopal Church and up until this January sang in the choir. She is also active in the St. Catherine's Guild. Mr. Shippey needs no introduction as a writer in this part of the country.

Colbert Family Enjoy First Family Reunion in Nine Years

For the first time in nine years, seven brothers and sisters, John, Bobby, Jane, Sylvia, Sheilah, Eugene and Donald Colbert were united when Sylvia Guardia attended the TV program, "It Could Be You," with the Sierra Madre Civic Club.

Sylvia was on the portion of the program, "Reunion Quiz." Bob Colbert was flown to Southern California from New Hartford, Conn., where he has been residing with his wife, Helen, and children, Mary Ellen and John.

Mrs. Colbert was a former teacher in Sierra Madre and now teaches in New Hartford.

The three-day family reunion was a happy round of parties, entertainment, barbecues and visits from friends all over the valley, many of whom had seen the program.

Mrs. Pederson (Mama Colbert) and her husband, Peder Pederson, are presently in Seattle and were thrilled to have seen the program, but disappointed that they were unable to come home for the reunion. However, they plan a trip to Connecticut in the near future to see Bob and his family.

Mrs. Nan Braun, Bob's 86-year-old grandmother, was on hand to give him a warm welcome.

Dinner guests at a family party includedMr. and Mrs. John Colbert, Mr. and Mrs. John Buchan, Mr. and Mrs. William Guardia, Mr. and Mrs. V. Marriotti, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Colbert, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Colbert, Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Ed McClosky, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson and Mrs. Myrtle Davidson.

Geraldine Mann Engaged to Wed Dan Peterson

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Mann of San Rafael announced the engagement of their daughter, Geraldine, to Dan Lee Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Peterson 71 Suffolk, when the traditional box of candy was passed to the girls of Hoyt Hall and the University Treble Clef at the University of California at Berkeley.

The bride-elect is a graduate of San Rafael High School and attended the University of California until recenntly. She is currently employed by the telephone company in San Francisco.

DAN ATTENDED Sierra Madre Elementary School, John Marshall Junior High School, Pasadena High College before enrolling in the college of Architecture at the University of California in Berkeley.

He has won several awards for his work in architecture and is now drawing for an architect in San Francisco.

The wedding is planned for July 21, the wedding anniversary of Dan's grandparents, Mrs. Orcelia Henderson and the late Benjamin Stinman, in San Rafael.

THE PETERSONS are planning a second wedding reception in their home on July 27.

Dan's family is one of the oldest in Sierra Madre. His grandfather, Gustaf Peterson came to this city, from Sweden, in 1897. He met his wife, Jennie, at the Congregational Church and raised his family here.

Both of Dan's parents attended Sierra Madre Elementary School and have resided at the Suffolk address since their marriage in 1935 in the Congregational Church.

Citrus Empire Provides Delightful, Scenic Drive

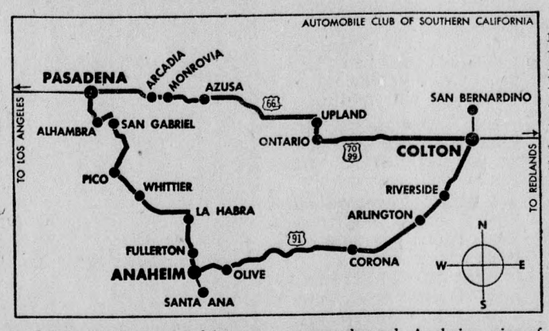

Fanning out from below the sunset slope of the San Gabriel Range are far-flung vistas of orange groves, highways with serried ranks of shady trees and cities steeped in historic romance. This happy creation, born of Man and Nature, is known as California's Citrus Empire–and for an afternoon of scenic motoring, there are few places in the Southland that can compare with its quiet beauty.

This trip, however, is not only a pleasure to be enjoyed from the automobile window, for enroute to the citrus country are many historical and cultural landmarks that warrant a closer look.

For example, in Pasadena, our starting point, one might take a tour around the Rose Bowl, a visit to the world-famed Huntington Library, the California Institute of Technology or a cruise down stately Orange Grove Avenue.

South of Monrovia marks the start of the citrus region and grove scenes, which are visible from the highway during most of the trip. Proceeding east on US 66, the route passes through picturesque, tree-lined Euclid Avenue in Upland. In the divided section of this artery, north of Foothill Boulevard, is the Pioneer Mother Statue, one of a chain of monuments dedicated to the pioneer mother.

Turning south at Colton, on US 91, we come to Riverside, one of the Southland's most beautiful and historic communities. A most popular showplace of the city is the block-square Glenwood Mission Inn, with its Spanish Cloisters, Courts of Birds and Bells. Inside are collections of art objects and pioneer relics.

Continuing the "circle" drive, one next comes to Corona, site of the old Corona road races in which Barney Oldfield, Ralph De Palma and other greats of that era competed. Just west of Corona is the Prado Dam which stores the flood waters of the Santa River.

On the last leg of the citrus belt drive from Corona west, the route passes through Anaheim—site of fabulous Disneyland—Fullerton, La Habra and Whittier.

A final stop that may be made for sight-seeing purposes is at San Gabriel Mission, which is adjoined by the Mission Playhouse.

The total mileage of this entire journey from Pasadena is only 125 miles.

RIVERSIDE—One of city's famous landmarks is Mission Inn, marked by Spanish Cloisters, Courts of Birds and bells.

ORANGE GROVES — In heart of citrus belt, groves are visible from the highway during most of the trip. The Citrus Empire trip also rewards motorists with galaxy of other scenic sights.

FIRE FLAMES

By JAMES HENLEY

There are some people who say that they enjoy "Fire Flames" and that it is desirous that something be written beside horrible things that happen from unwanted fires. But we must reveal the horrible to convince readers of the danger.

This column is also instrumental in retaining the interest of the men who so faithfully devote their time to the fire service. When "Fire Flames" fails to "show up" in the local paper, one of the first complaints comes from the firemen. They want to know why. It is a "natural" for one to be curious when he sees his name in the paper. To date there has not been a serious objection to the tales told on the fireboys. (It wouldn't do him much good.)

At any rate, from time to time, there is much released through the column to keep residents acquainted with dangers of fire, and the doings of the Fire Department. We realize that we are open for much improvement and in need of much fire equipment to fight that major fire than can occur.

As the city grows and time flies, equipment and knowledge will accumulate. One of our firemen, aboard an airliner, was about to land, and the hostess was making her rounds to tell the passengers to fasten their safety belts. All complied but the fireman. Thinking the haughty looking gentleman might be a little deaf, she spoke directly to him in a loud voice.

"Please fasten your safety belt."

"My dear young lady," he replied," I don't have to. I wear suspenders."

"WHAT WENT off at the Chief's Conference?"

Well, the guy who was to give the invocation gets up on the platform, takes a good look at the delegates, and prays for the fire service."

ANOTHER competitive drill will be necessary because of a tie. Friday night's drill was won by Gene Tom's crew, while Charlie Brown's crew lost a point for not having a ladder fully extended and a loss of time, because Fred Richter (driving for Toms found an easier way to reach the fire plug than Joe Grippi, driving for Brown. (Practice fire safety and help us keep the fire loss low.)

Police Chief Gives Tips On Burglary Prevention

Chief of Police G. G. McMillan announced yesterday the week of May 5 through 11 will be observed as Burglary Prevention Week in Sierra Madre.

Chief McMillan pointed out that experienced burglars know when to invade a house. It's up to the homeowner to fool him by creating the impression someone is home, though the house may be empty.

Many people leave their homes for an evening, weekend, or vacation, and fail to take the simple precautions dictated by good common sense, Chief McMillan reported. These citizens wouldn't think of leaving the front door open or hanging up a sign reading "Burglars Welcome — Nobody Home Here." Yet, they give all the indications necessary such as newspapers piled at the front door, a totally dark house, or even worse, lights burning 24 hours a day.

Police officers know the results of such action — crime and more crime. Last year, there was a burglary about every 1-⅓ minutes in this country. It's an alarming figure, but many can be prevented by following the simple precautions suggested by our police department when leaving for several days or longer.

1. DO leave a lamp or two connected to an automatic timer to turn lights on and off regularly each evening.

2. DO cancel all deliveries including milk, newspapers, etc.

3. DO close and lock all windows and doors, including basement, porch, and garage. Use pin tumbler cylinder locks on all outside doors. This type lock, invented in 1865, is still the most secure key operated locking device known to man.

4. DO have your lawn mowed and sidewalk swept by a neighbor at least once a week.

5. DO tell one neighbor you are leaving. Have them check your house periodically and notify the police if they see anyone prowling around.

6. DO notify your local police officials as to the date you are leaving and when you will return.

7. DON'T close blinds or draw shades, leave them as you normally do when you're home.

8. DON'T leave valuables laying around the house. Place them in a safety deposit box.

9. DON'T tell friends, neighbors, or work associates off the valuable possessions you have around house.

10. DON'T advertise your departure with an item in the paper and don't broadcast the news to your whole neighborhood.

KENNEDY

elected, be in a position where I would have to take some criticism myself.

More specifically, I believe greater emphasis should be placed on the fundamentals in the lower grades—the three R's—and I think it's more important for teachers to learn their subjects thoroughly than to spend several years taking teaching courses about teaching.

Locally, I think we should make a greater effort to educate our children in Sierra Madre. I see no reason to farm our children out to other schools after the sixth grade here. We should have eight grades in Sierra Madre. It probably would be financially impossible, however, for Sierra Madre to build a high school.

I decided to run for the School Board in the first place because I thought the battle over religion in the schools was most unseemly and unnecessary.

The Board could have handled the problem either by meeting it head-on or by refering it to the county council.

Secular religious education is not properly a part of the curriculum of the public school. This has been decided in numerous court cases.

This does not mean I am opposed to religion. I'm not. But the public schools must protect and respect the rights of the minority. This is one of the reasons our public schools exist.

school offiicals and county probation officers regarding these students and their parents.

I learned that there is some fundamental deficiency in our basic education today as compared with when I attended school. It was surprising to learn of students who could not multiply, spell or even form a sentence. Also, in the high school level, students had no knowledge of their scholastic goal.

I believe that with sound basic teaching in the elementary grades, students can be taught to learn. Standards must be raised, a merit system comparable to San Marino would be a step in the right direction. As present teachers retire or resign, replace them with well-qualified personnel. Attractive salaries must be offered.

Regarding the "religious pageant," I believe that it does have a place in the formulation of the character of the child. Parents having serious objections to participation by their children would be permitted to withdraw their children from the play.

The teaching of religion itself is prohibited and would not be tolerated. This inherent right is accorded by the Constitution of the United States and the State of California.

Scholastic education, moral rights and respect of the rights of others is the basic concept I have for the proper education of children. Thus they would not fall in that category of 48 per cent that, according to J. Edgar Hoover, become involved in crimes. Religious education by the church and parents would round out this education and thereby reducing this 48 per cent to a far lesser amount. The future of any nation is its children.

dren is probably the most important investment we can make in the future. Part of this, of course, is done in our homes, and a major part in our schools. Our public schools have unquestionably been a leading factor in building our great country.

The primary job of a School Board member is to see that the taxpayers' money is spent in the best possible manner to meet the above objectives, complying of course with the State Education Code wherever applicable. Sierra Madre has, now and in the past, had many fine citizens on its school boards who have worked earnestly to maintain and improve our community's schools. I believe that my business and management experience may be of some help in participating as a Board member, and I shall endeavor to serve to the best of my ability if elected.

BROWN

I think that, as a trustee, I can make a positive contribution to the educational program being offered to my children and to the other children of our town.

For several years I have been an active participant in our school bond and tax elections and in the Sierra Madre PTA. However, I think that now it is time for me to assume an even greater share of the responsibility for our schools.

VILLA VIEWS

By Toni Maurin
SYcamore 7-9634

And so we come to "HER" day again. The day when the youngsters rally round and show their Moms in a pointed way how much they really do love them. And we who are mothers remember back when we were their ages and think of our own mothers and how much at sea they must have been as we are now. Is there any parent in the world who doesn't wonder from time to time if she or he is doing the right thing by the children? When some of the days get tough, can we remember back and know, too, that our own parents must have gone through the same doubts and fears that we all experience some place along the line?

It is nice to know, though, that most of today's problems will be forgotten come the dawn and most of the children will turn out to be wonderful adults if they are given half a chance at a good moral upbringing and a generous dose of love.

THE J. KEITH Anderson family of 1900 Sierra Madre Villa recently returned from a delightful vacation at Mammoth. They stayed in a cottage in the Mineret Woods and were fortunate enough to find a baby sitter for 8-month-old Mary so that the rest of the family could ski together. By the rest of the family, I mean Jimmy, who is just 3 years old and quite adept on skis, and Carol, aged 7½. Mrs. Anderson said that this is the first of a series of planned family trips, the next to be a camping trip this summer.

THE JOHN A. WILLS family of 2941 Doyne Road has returned from very diversified vacations recently. Mr. Wills went down to San Felipe with a group of seven other men, which included Mr. R. O. Hunt of this area. They had boats and trucks and fished the gulf of California coast for Yellow Tail and Totuava. Mr. Wills and his partner went on down as far as Bahia de Los Angeles and fished before returning to San Felipe. Mrs. Wills joined some friends in San Diego County and took the children on a camping trip while Mr. Wills was out of town.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH Philipson of 1485 Old House Road had a few intimate friends in for a 15th anniversary dinner. They sent out clever invitations asking people to come dressed as they did 15 years ago and some of the—may I say costumes—were most outstanding.

WE HAVE a charming new family in the area. They are Mr. and Mrs. Maurice E. Anderson and their three children, Julie, 7½, Claire, 6, and Margy, 4. They are originally from Portland, Ore., and then Burbank. They bought the Robert B. Parks home at 2031 Windover Road and moved in just two weeks ago. Mrs. Anderson said that their hobby is gardening and that they have plenty of room for expression inasmuch as the house has been unoccupied for about six months.

MRS. HILTON D. GRAY

Lila Louise Blumer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Blumer, 3770 Newhaven Rd., became the bride of Hilton D. Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilton F. Gray of Pasadena, May 3 at Saint Edmund's Episcopal Church, San Marino. The Reverend W. A. Driver officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white taffeta gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and full bouffant skirt which fell into a chapel train. The wide round neck of the dress was embroidered in seed pearls and her finger-tip French illusion veil was caught by an inverted crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of Phalaenopis orchids, stephanotis and fleur de amour centered with a large Cattlea orchid. Her costume was completed with a string of family heirloom pearls given her by the groom as an engagement present.

Mrs. Ernest Espenschued, matron of honor, cousin of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Susan Gingrich, Dorothy Stallings and Jo-Ann Kempton, cousin of the bride, wore blue chiffon Empire style ballerina length frocks and small hats. They carried baskets of blue hyacinths and pink roses.

Cora Kempton, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and Franklin Blumer, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Peter Van Hove Bye was best man and the guests were seated by Lee Littlefield, Norman Rasnik and Robert Blumer, brother of the bride.

Large baskets of white roses and lilies were used in the floral decorations in the Terrace Room at the Huntington - Sheraton where a reception was held for 300 guests.

Patricia Curry, cousin of the groom, was hostess at the reception and wore a dress similar to the bridal attendants only in a lilac hue.

The bride is the great granddaughter of John George Blumer, who was an early pioneer of Sierra Madre, arriving in 1886 to make his home. She is the granddaughter of the Phillip W. Blumers, former Sierra Madre residents.

She is a graduate of Pasadena City College and Lawton Medic Dental School. Currently she is employed as a dental assistant in Altadena.

The groom graduated from Pasadena High School in 1952. He then entered the U.S. Marine Corps and served in the legal department of the Third Marine Division in Japan and Korea. He is presently attending Pasadena City College but will transfer to the University of Southern California to complete his course in industrial purchasing.

How did your taffy-pull come out, girls? By the way, I hear that the Sea Scouts were also having a get-together right down the beach. Hmmm! Bet you gals had a ball!

Eugene Field 1957 Varities Opens Two-Night Stand Friday

"The '57 Varieties of Eugene Field Dads" is the whimsical title of the Field fathers annual extravaganza arriving for a two-night stand at 8 p.m. Friday in the cafetorium.

Monkey business as usual is in store for the audience, according to reports from the rehearsal stage. The men have a great time, too, in planning and staging the show. They leave their business and professional worries at home and really "ham it up" for the financial benefit of PTA projects, which is where proceeds are spent.

Ove Jensen, producer of the show, said "57 Varieties" will feature Dick Fowler, magician, as well as a "fashion show," Li'l Abner number, a ballet and pantomime, to name a few highlights.

George Sabin is in charge of the orchestra, and other key posts are held by Rodney Bray, Draper Jennings, Jack Atkinson, Dave Orswell, Phil Farrell, Sam Kirk, director; Bill Caldecott, Stan Mikulka and Dave Klett. Conrad Walburger is master of ceremonies.

Others in the cast and crew in various capacities are Norm Simonson, Elmer Morton, Don Cozen, Sam Miclean, Bud Gero, Don Rutherford, Gordon Bosworth, Don Wilson, Chaffin Blake, Bob Cyphert, Harold Nelson, Unk Hunter, Cal Brown and John Calmer.

Also, Howard Niederman, Ben Barths, Harry Rouse, Ben Klafke, Joe Philipson, Doug Charpentier, Vic Deverian, Joe Vincent, Joe Cummins, Bob Cress, Paul Nurches, Jim Stivers, Don Schwinn, Jack Steffens, Dan Taylor and Rowland Graham.

Infant Mortality Rate Low In Los Angeles County

By ROY O. BILBERT, M.D.
L. A. County Health Officer

Infants born in Los Angeles County are more fortunate than the children born elsewhere in California, for, according to available statistics, they have a better chance of surviving the critical first year of life.

Back in 1920, the infant mortality rate in this area was 73.6. This means that out of every thousand babies born alive in 1920, more than three times as many died during the first year of life than did in 1955 when the rate dropped to 22.1 per 1,000 live births.

This comparison may make the improvement seem greater than it actually is, however. The startling fact remains that in 1955 there were more deaths among infants under one year of age in Los Angeles County than among the entire population between the ages of one and 35 years.

GENERALLY SPEAKING, two factors have made possible the dramatic reduction in infant deaths during the last 35 to 40 years. One of these is sanitation, the other immunization.

Many authorities feel that sanitary controls were of even greater significance in the control of infant deaths than were inoculations against the communicable diseases. These experts declare that the pasteurization of milk and the pudification of public water supplies were directly responsible for practically eliminating the infant diarrheas which formerly comprised a chief cause of death among infants.

Today, approximately three-fourths of all infant fatalities occur within 28 days of birth, and more than 60 per cent of these deaths happen to premature infants; that is, to those babies who weigh five and one-half pounds or less when born.

Certain of the conditions often associated with premature births can be controlled by adequate care of the mother before the baby is born. Ways must be found to encourage expectant mothers to seek medical care early in pregnancy. For those in the low economic groups there are already adequate facilities available in Los Angeles County to provide such care free, or, on a part-pay basis.

FURTHER REDUCTION of infant mortality will probably now come at a somewhat slower pace than in the past. Although much is presently known about the various causes of infant mortality, a lot is yet to be discovered. The elimination of problems concerned with both the known and unknown requires much further painstaking and time-consuming investigation.

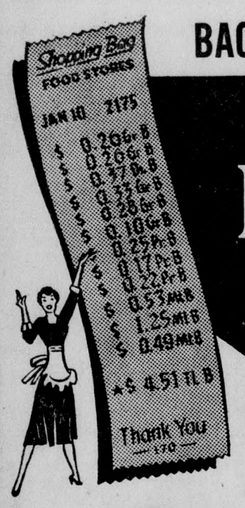

This is an appropriate time of the year to consider the physical and mental well-being of the nation's younnger generation. Once again May 1 has been set aside by Presidential proclamation as Child Health Day—a custom that started as long ago as 1924. "However," the President fittingly declared, "it should be remembered that the assurances of optimum health for children requires more than the setting aside of a day or week."

Of a certainty, it is well-known among medical and public health groups that it will take unremitting research and effort to discover all causes of infant deaths and devise ways of prevention.

Teach Children To Swim If There's a Pool In Neighborhood

Ex-Swimming Champion Urges Parents To Take Safety Precautions

"Tecah your children to swim if there is a new swimming pool in your neighborhood.

That was the advice offered today by Paul Wolf, formmer Olympic and Natiional swimming champion, and U. S. Coach.

Wolf said there are now more than 35,000 swimming pools in Southern California, and that thousands more will be built this season. Last year, 20 children lost their lives in private swimming pools.

Wolf feels that teaching children to swim early in life is one of the best precautions against wrowning.

Wolf presides over the Olympic Swim School at 30 North Sierra Madre Blvd., Pasadena, where thousands of young boys and girls were taught the art of swimming during the past year.

If you are planning a vacation ner water this summer and you have a youngster that can't swim, Paul's your man. For information on classes call SY. 3-2704 or stop and see Paul at the pool in Pasadena. Adv.

Garden Notes . . .

Giant Geranium No Joke In California Gardens

That perennial-type joke about the Geraniu (Pelargonium) which is said to grow to giant proportions in California is no exaggeration for Geraniums are outstanding garden plants in this state.

Geraniums are all, with a few exceptions, native of South Africa. There are three types that are valuable garden plants for California; they are the Common Garden or Zonal Geranium (Zonal refers to the dark zones or shadings on the leaves) known as Pelargonium hortorum; the Lady or Martha Washington Geranium (Pelargonium domesticum); and the Ivy Geranium (Pelargonium pelatum). There are hundreds of named varieties in the first two categories while the Ivy Geranium has at least 50 named varieties.

A fourth type of Geranium often planted in California gardens is the Scented Geranium which includes many varieties with interesting and fragrant foliage and attractive glowers.

GIVE GERANIUMS a sunny home unless you garden in a hot summer locale and there it is better to plant in a partly shaded area. Geraniums grow and bloom practically year 'round in the coastal areas of the state; in other areas they bloom and grow only in frost free months.

Geraniums will grow in a variety of soils; in heavy soils the gardner may need to take steps to assure good drainage. Water newly planted Geraniums well until they become well established and then water enough to keep the soil moist just below the surface for too much water may keep the plants from blooming freely.

Irrigation is the recommended method of watering. Prune all your Geraniums in spring except the Lady Washington types which should be pruned from late August to early October. In fog belt areas you can prune these varieties into November or later.

Prune off only one-third to one-half of the stems at a time, the California Associatiion of Nurserymen recommends. Cut back to the point at which you want new growth. Pruning will keep Geraniums under control and it promotes more branching with flowering tips and thus more flowers.

FEED YOUR Geraniums at regular intervals . . . at the beginning of spring, midsummer and again in early fall.

Geraniums can play several roles in California gardens. Lady Washington and Garden Geraniums in their bright colors are well suited for garden beds and borders, window boxes and pots. They can be trained to grow espalier-fashion against a wall or trellis and even as standards (like tree roses).

Ivy Geraniums serve well in mild climate areas as ground covers on banks and parkways and in the place of lawns. Ivy Geraniums can also be handsomely planted over walls, as fence covers, trained up trees, planted in hanging pots. Fancy-leaved and scented Geraniums make colorful and fragrant pot plants on low walls, in open porches, patios and other outdoor living areas.

Roast chicken is delicious only when it's juicy—but flame evaporates juice

LIVE BETTER—ELECTRICALLY

Here's why:

Flame needs air to breathe. A flame-heated oven constantly inhales dry air, exhales moist air—literally cooks meat in a hot draft that evaporates good juices. But juice is the secret of flavor in meats, and especially in chicken. Nothing is more disappointing than a piece of dried-out white meat. Yet, in a flame-type oven, that's too often exactly what you get.

But in a modern electric oven there's no draft of constantly changing air. Because there's no flame. You cook in moist heat, not dry heat. Result? More juice stays in the chicken. And the chicken tastes better.

Electric cooking is cleaner, too. Your pots, pans and walls stay fresh and new far longer. And cooler. Electricity puts the heat in the food, not the kitchen. Actually, it's the only modern way to cook. See your electrical dealer soon.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA Edison COMPANY

Did you know? Flameless electric cooking costs about $1.30 to $1.50 a month for a family of 4

STRAWBERRY FAVORITES

The strawberry season brings us many calls for a "repeat" on recipes we've used before. First on the list is the one for Lemon-Strawberry Jam. And it's a dandy.

Glazed Strawberry Pie is another favorite we are asked for again and again. And it makes a positively gorgeous dessert.

Directions for a really elegant salad mold of fresh strawberries and grapefruit segments is a third. And it's a beauty.

Do make your preserves from berries that are picked during the peak of the season. And enjoy the other favorites all through the weeks when the fresh berries are in good supply.

LEMON-STRAWBERRY JAM
4 C. fresh strawberries (2 boxes)
5 C. sugar
½ C. lemon juice

Wash and hull strawberries. Put them into a kettle and cover with the sugar. Let stand for an hour or two, stirring occasionally to extract some of the berry juice and partially dissolve the sugar. Be careful not to crush the fruit.

Place over low flame and gradually bring to boil. Boil 8 min., counting time from the point it comes to a full boil. Turn off the flame and let the jam cool. Add lemon juice and boil again for 5 min. Cool and let stand for at least 4 hrs. before turning into sterilized glasses for sealing.

GLAZED STRAWBERRY PIE
1½ qts. strawberries (3 baskets)
½ C. water
1 C. sugar
2½ Tbsp. cornstarch
1 Tbsp. butter
Red food coloring
9 or 10 in. baked pie shell
Whipped cream

Wash, drain and hull berries. Crush 2 C. of berries and combine with water, sugar and cornstarch in a saucepan. Bring mixture to the boiling point and cook over simmer flame about 2 min. or until clear. Add butter and enough red food coloring to give an attractive bright color; strain; cool slightly.
